Hunter Van Asten is an attorney in the firm's Litigation practice. He is experienced in handling complex civil litigation matters and has a passion for crafting innovative legal strategies and delivering impactful results for clients. Hunter advocates for businesses in a variety of civil disputes, including insurance, employment agreements, and administrative appeals. He also represents trustees, individuals and families in estates and trust litigation matters, providing strategic guidance in navigating the intricacies of estate planning, probate, and trust litigation. With a keen ability to analyze complex legal issues, Hunter excels in drafting persuasive, clear, and compelling legal briefs that effectively address each client's needs.

Outside of the courtroom, Hunter volunteers his time as a high school mock trial coach. He is a Wisconsin sports enthusiast and enjoys challenging his mind in strategy board games.
