Chuck Vogel is Of Counsel in the Corporate and Health Care Practice Groups in the Milwaukee office.

Chuck represents business clients involved in diverse industries and provides counsel regarding a wide range of business issues and transactional matters, including day-to-day business law concerns and transactions as well as business acquisitions, dispositions and combinations. As such, Chuck acts as outside general counsel to a number of the firm's privately-held clients. He also has served as a member of the board of directors of numerous privately-held companies, and was Chairman of the U.S. subsidiaries of a European pharmaceutical company for more than 24 years.

As part of his healthcare practice, Chuck has handled the full range of health care joint ventures, acquisitions and affiliations, including the development of specialty hospitals, the acquisition and disposition of ambulatory surgery centers and medical practices, the structuring of hospital-physician co-management arrangements, and the merger and consolidation of medical practice groups and other providers. He also has provided counsel to hospital boards regarding affiliations, mergers and participation in joint operating agreements.

Chuck joined the firm in 1973 and has served on its Board of Directors.
